

Performance Commentary

Along with the global equity markets, SKAGEN Vekst had a relatively slow August. Still, given the mixed results from companies reporting second quarter figures, we switched some of our investments into higher yielding ones and to an increasing degree tried to avoid cases where we see potential structural issues as autumn approaches. These include Norwegian, Teva, Ericsson and H&M. We continued to increase our stake in Vestas on the back of a Q2 report that we see as a timing issue of orders more than a structural slowdown. We also entered into Danish transport company DSV as their Q2 figures show the company is on a successful path to higher margins.

In August, Vekst used some of the liquidity to increase its exposure to materials which are becoming increasingly popular in the current attractive pricing environment. The fund currently has four investments that are directly seeing the positive effects of higher material prices and better sentiment for cyclical commodities. These are namely Norsk Hydro, Anglo American, Boliden and Outokumpu, and combined they account for 7.6% of the portfolio. As we enter into the notoriously risky September, SKAGEN Vekst holds a 4% cash position.

The fund selects low-priced, high-quality companies in the Nordic region and from around the world.

The objective is to provide the best possible risk adjusted return.

The fund is suitable for those with at least a five year investment horizon.
